

273.

Written by News Administrator

Wednesday, 12 December 2018 22:12 - Last Updated Wednesday, 12 December 2018 22:12

---

What we need to understand about impermanence is that both time and being are momentary, and they aren't separate.

That's why Katagiri is able to say that each moment is the universe. Because it is the momentary wave of everything.

It's hard to see this in our normal life. But we can see it in zazen. The wave of each moment, crashing against the cliff of practice.